Answers For Computers

One of the most reassuring events of State government occurred recently in Sacramento during a convention of municipal court judges. It had to do with a girl's answer to the computer.

The judges' program included, sensibly enough, a visit to the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Why is this a sensible visit? Because the courts are overburdened with matters pertaining to owning and driving motor vehicles. Of course it made sense that the stalwarts of the bench would see, first hand, how the state handles some of the matters that come before the courts daily.

In the Department of Motor Vehicles, one judge reported to this newsman, is a project of transferring all motor vehicles information, including violations, onto punch cards that are to be fed into one of the most sophisticated computer systems yet devised.

One operator, a girl, was having trouble. As she typed the information into the machine, the information was reproduced on an overhead electronic board — a sort of miniature baseball — football board.

No matter what she typed it appeared to come out wrong on the scoreboard. Our judge watched her for nearly an hour, enthralled by her frustration.

Finally, the young lady arose from her chair, dumped a full tray of cards into a trash can, picked up her purse and left.

The part that is reassuring is that now there is at least one tray of malfunctions whose "crimes" will never be recorded.

About the same time we were advised by the US Press Assn. that governmental punchcards are creating a change in society across the nation.

It was reported that fifteen female inmates at Walla Walla, Washington State Prison have been key-punching all the State's laws.

To date they have punched out a million cards for the State's computer. Very shortly they'll start on the decisions of the attorney general — another million cards.

Female convicts earn 10 cents an hour and may gain a 5 cent an hour raise after they become proficient.

One of the skilled keypunchers said, "Times have really changed. Ten years ago nobody outside the walls knew what we were doing. Nobody cared. Maybe we didn't know what we were doing either but now, at least, we don't have to be embarrassed about having a number. Everybody has a number in this computer age — even the governor."

And he does. One man with a number happens to be a prominent newsman. His number came up recently on one of those computers installed by a national oil company.

He received in the mail a deftly computerized threat to have him in court, forthwith, if he failed to pay his overdue balance by return mail.

It happened that this skillful writer didn't owe a penny to the oil company.

Perhaps the most eloquent paragraphs he ever produced are now a fixture in the computer departments across the nation. The computer had erred him with the delinquency of a poor soul with the same name — in a different section of the country. Modesty forbids reprinting his reply.

Recently, a bookkeeper in a well-established firm was hospitalized. Management wanted to keep the job open, and willing co-workers joined the boss in keeping things going through the extended absence. A secretary signed her name to one request for a clarification of a disputed invoice. The next month she received a demand for payment of an overdue bill of less than twenty dollars and a threat of a permanent blight on her credit if she failed to present her check by return mail.

The bill actually was the company's bill which had been paid during the interim. But the ever-watchful computer had associated her name with the company's name and she is still receiving threats, demands and notices that her credit is kept in every credit and collection service in the nation.

What every tax-paying citizen of this country really needs is a set of numbers by which he can communicate intelligently with computers that would browbeat us.

Medical Treatment May Replace Arrest For 'Drug-Drunks'

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — County supervisors are taking steps to implement a new state law that allows medical treatment rather than arrest of persons under the influence of drugs.

The law, stemming from Assembly Bill 1339, went into effect on Nov. 10. It allows police officers to take drug-intoxicated persons to designated treatment centers without criminal charges.

The supervisors on Monday asked Chief Administrative Officer Fred Morey to recommend which centers, such as University Hospital, should be so designated.

The county task then will be to seek uniformity of treatment in such cases by the police of all cities and the sheriff's department.

Supervisor Jack Walsh, who has been the board's leader in its anti-drug abuse program, said if police continue to arrest those under the influence, it will stop the new policy before it is started.

He said, "My concern is that the unfounded fear of arrest may deter someone suffering from a drug overdose from seeking life-saving medical help."

The statistic of 103 known drug overdose deaths last year bears repeating.

Trustees Expel 5 Students

In a packed agenda, Grossmont High School District trustees Monday night directed district administration to develop educational specifications for the first of two continuation high schools, and in line with board policy expelled five students for possession or use of dangerous drugs or marijuana.

In considering the development of a new continuation high school the Board approved long range planning for two continuation facilities and directed district administration to develop educational specifications, a financial plan for the acquisition of a site, and development of the first campus.

The new structure will replace the present "temporary" quonset hut facilities located at Santee.

After meeting in executive session for slightly over an hour the Board returned and voted unanimously to expel five students for possession or use of dangerous drugs or marijuana.

Expelled were two boys and three girls, one for use of drugs on campus, three for use or possession of dangerous drugs or marijuana off campus and one for glue sniffing off campus.

Ambulance Service Here Too Costly Report Shows

A fire department-operated ambulance for Lemon Grove is not very likely to come into being in the foreseeable future, it was revealed at the November 24 meeting of the L.G. Fire Protection District Board of Directors.

V. J. Dorman, LGFD counsel, presented a study made by the Spring Valley Fire Department based on their cost of ambulance operation for the past one and three-fourths years. The study, prepared by Spring Valley Fire Chief G. Frank Berger, showed that the cost of expanding the present service to cover Lemon Grove, and the Grossmont-Helix areas as well, would cost $54,750 the first year. Lemon Grove's assessed valuation alone would pick up $22,850 of that cost, he indicated.

He envisioned one additional ambulance operated 24 hours a day with two men on each division with one relief man. These men would be paid $52,000 a year. The manpower would be needed if supplied to only one of the districts, he pointed out — and the cost would be prohibitive.

Chief Berger suggested that a consolidation of the Spring Valley-Lemon Grove District might be a partial solution to the cost-service problems of local districts.

Dorman recommended that no further action be taken for the present.

Calavo Gardens Annex Delayed

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The Local Agency Formation Commission on Tuesday delayed action on a minor annexation to the Otay Municipal Water District in the Calavo Gardens area.

Executive Officer Robert Small told the commission that a question remains whether the water district can serve any of the area with public sewers unless it can reach agreement with the Spring Valley Sanitation District.

He said the water district is negotiating with the sanitation district for an emergency outlet to the metropolitan sewer system, a condition set by the Water Quality Control Board.

The WQCB believes water reclamation plants are not fool-proof, and will not allow them above domestic water supplies, in this case, Sweetwater Reservoir, without bypass outfall lines.

The Otay proposal has not reached the County Board of Supervisors as yet. The board is the governing board of the sanitation district.

Area Gets Fees
The unincorporated area of San Diego County has received $39,935 as its six-month share of the special fees paid by holders of alcoholic beverage licenses.

CTA Votes To Support Lowered Voting Age

BURLINGAME — The California Teachers Association announced Tuesday that it is actively supporting a drive to put the question of the vote for 18-year-olds on the June 2 ballot.

CTA Executive Secretary Jack D. Rees said support of an amendment to the State Constitution to lower the voting age to 18 was approved by CTA's State Council of Education. The Council is policy-making body for the 170,000-member CTA.

Rees noted that the Student California Association (SCA) has taken the lead in mobilizing support of other groups for the initiative under the banner of Independent Volunteers for Vote Extension to 18, 19, 20 year-olds. The groups list addresses at P.O. Box 23, San Francisco, 94101 and P.O. Box 893, Main Office Station, Los Angeles, 90053.

Rees said that 700 CTA chapters throughout the state will be asked to circulate five or more petitions each in an effort to secure over 100,000 signatures among teachers, their families and friends in support of putting the question on the ballot.

"Today's young people are well-educated and unquestionably ready to participate in government," Rees said. "Today 75 per cent of the nation's youth graduate from high school and over 50 per cent will attend college at some point. In contrast, only 45 per cent completed high school in 1940 and only 16 per cent went on to college at that time."

"Young people today are highly idealistic and our state cannot afford to leave this idealism untapped," Rees added. "If we do not lower the voting age, we run the risk of having increased numbers of youthful citizens becoming disenchanted with politics and our system of government."

Rees said that one of the reasons "young people have taken to the streets" is that legitimate avenues into the political system have been denied to them, and lowering the voting age will help develop solutions to our many social, political and economic ills by placing renewed emphasis upon democratic techniques of self-government.

"The old enough to fight, old enough to vote" cry of the young is a valid and important point," Rees declared. "Almost one-half of the American servicemen who have died in Vietnam were too young to vote. Demanding that a man give his life while denying him the right to vote to help decide why and where that life should or should not be given is certainly questionable morality."

Art Burkhard, SCTA president and San Jose State College graduate student, pointed out that thousands of the heads of California households and families are under 21.

"They pay taxes on income, property, purchases and gasoline. They work and live under the laws of their local, state and national governments."

Four states, he reported, have voting ages below 21 (Georgia and Kentucky at 18, Alaska at 19, Hawaii at 20) and their experience has been most positive.

"Teachers in Georgia and Kentucky have testified that the prospect of voting soon after high school graduation stimulated a greater interest on the part of juniors and seniors in government and politics," Burkhard said.

"Furthermore, teachers in those states have said that the lower voting age had led to major curricular changes designed to foster in students a greater readiness to vote. The experience in Alaska and Hawaii has been so positive that the State Legislatures have endorsed a further extension of the suffrage to include 18-year-olds."

"A basic precept of our self-government is that as many people as possible should participate in the basic decision-making processes; that those who must live by the law should help decide what the law is to be," he said.

"The 12 million Americans currently between 18 and 21 are currently excluded from the processes and cannot participate in the decision making. For that, our system is weaker."

Drugmobile Due At Las Flores School Monday

Seventh and eighth grade students at the Jamul-Las Flores spent the past several weeks discussing the harmful effects of drugs.

Several speakers from the sheriff's department and other organizations have shown the students, in their health education classes, drugs damaging effect on the human body.

William Whitley, school principal, said that the Drugmobile from National City is part of the followup program. It will be at the school Monday from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Students will have an opportunity to discuss drugs with a representative from the sheriff's office. During the evening, the Drugmobile will be open to parents. They, as students, will have a chance to see pictures, slides and actual harmful drugs and to ask questions of the officer in charge.

Diabetic Talk Set

"Tax Problems of the Diabetic" will be the topic of discussion at the next regular meeting of the San Diego County Chapter of the Diabetes Association of Southern California when it meets at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the War Memorial Bldg., north end of Zoo parking lot, San Diego.

Dwain Sims from the Bureau of Internal Revenue will be the guest speaker. Bill Eastman chairman of the San Diego County Chapter issued a general invitation to the public to attend the meeting and learn more about diabetes.

Sups Put All County Under Zoning Control

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — An ordinance zoning all of the unincorporated land in the county was adopted on Monday by the Board of Supervisors in the face of only light opposition. The board also adopted the LC (limited control) zone as the zoning tool.

LG Fire Report

Some person or persons were responsible for narrowly burning a pickup mailbox of mail at Washington and Palm avenues in Lemon Grove on Nov. 25.

The fire department report was that a call came into the station at 7:40 p.m., by a resident living near the mailbox, who said the box was emitting smoke. Firemen threw in an amount of powdered extinguisher to put out the blaze.

A spokesman for the Lemon Grove Post Office, said the blaze burned a mail bag but two letters were slightly singed, and the addressees on the letters were notified.

The Fire Department answered one rescue call on Nov. 29 to 8002 Mt. Vernon. Manuel A. Berrotrom, 24, was given oxygen for a possible heart attack. He later went to Paradise Valley Hospital.

Ten persons spoke in opposition and some of these appeared to have a misunderstanding of the LC zone.

The zone allows one or two family housing on lots with a minimum size of two-and-a-half gross acres and all of the heavy agricultural uses of the A-4 zone.

Existing lots smaller than two-and-a-half acres will remain legal building sites whether created by lot splits or subdivisions.

The LC zone is liberal in that nearly any land use can be granted by means of a special use permit, although there is no assurance a permit will win approval. (The permit fee is $200).

The new regulations will go into effect in 30 days. The supervisors, therefore hit their target date for the zoning action of the first of the year.

Where the zone does not fit because of lot sizes, relief can be gained through the permit system or through a rezoning.

Christmas Decoration Prizes Set

Entries are still being accepted for the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce annual Christmas Home Decorating contest, according to Frank Shughrue, chamber president.

Entries may be turned in until 3 p.m. Dec. 19 at the chamber office at 3415 Imperial ave., he said.

There is no entry fee or any other requirement other than having a decorated home, he said.

Homes will be judged on the evening of Dec. 22. Owners of the three homes judged best will be awarded prizes. Trophies, plaques and merchandise will be given the winners at a chamber luncheon in January, Shughrue said.

Q. Due to illness, I have been unable to work for several months. I have not filed for social security disability benefits yet, but I'm running short on money. Is there a time limit for filing my disability claim?

A. Yes, there is — to prevent possible loss of benefits. You should file your disability claim with the social security office right away. A recent study showed that 11.1% of the people whose disability claims were allowed lost some monthly benefits because they did not file a claim within 18 months of the date they became disabled.

Q. My doctor says that I will need a nurse to attend me for a while after I go home from the hospital. Will Medicare pay for her services?

A. Medicare can pay for the services provided by a home health agency, which would include visits by a nurse. It won't pay at all for a private nurse engaged to work on your case full-time.

Q. I just learned from a friend that there is a Social Security Office in El Cajon. Will you please publish the office address and its business hours?

A. The El Cajon Social Security Office is located at 570 North Second st., in El Cajon. The office is open from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The phone number is 442-0851.

Q. How much of my medical bills will be paid under the Medical Insurance part of Medicare?

A. You pay the first $50 of your total bills for the year for doctor's services and visits, surgeons fees, and other services covered under this plan. After that, the plan pays 80% of the remaining reasonable charges.

DUE FOR CONCERT — The Youngbloods, of "Let's Get Together" fame, are scheduled to appear in concert at the Exhibit Hall of the Community Concourse Saturday night. The Steve Miller Band is also on the bill. The trio, a transplanted San Francisco group, includes Banana on lead guitar, drummer Joe Bauer, and bass player Jesse Colin Young. Show starts at 8:30 p.m., with tickets available at the Concourse and at Highlander Men's Stores.

'Royal Gambit' Opens at Globe

An intriguing drama revealing the multi-faceted character of King Henry VIII will be performed at the Cassius Carter Centre Stage.

Opening tonight, "Royal Gambit" is scheduled for a limited run, nightly except Monday through December 21. A matinee will be presented on Sunday, December 21. The Cassius Carter Centre Stage is located adjacent to the Old Globe Theatre in Balboa Park.

"Royal Gambit" transcends history as England's Renaissance ruler during the early sixteenth century is depicted as a man of contemporary ideas and emotions.

A fascinating portrait of this "modern man" is revealed through dramatic confrontations between the mercurial monarch and the six women who shared his public triumphs and private despair.

Students through college and enlisted military personnel will receive a 40% discount on tickets to "Royal Gambit."

Gallery Says Change Due

Henry G. Gardiner, Director of the Fine Arts Gallery of San Diego, announced that the galleries on the second floor will be closed effective immediately until early 1970.

Traveling and temporary exhibitions, subsequently, will not be scheduled.

Roof repair and general maintenance, eventually leading to heat control in the upper galleries, are the reasons for this inconvenience.

However, visitors are invited to view the important permanent collections on the first level.

Old and modern paintings by European and American masters are to be found here, as well as outstanding examples of Oriental Arts.

A certain amount of rearranging of the gallery collection will also be done this winter.

With the approaching holiday season, visitors are reminded that items and books from the Gallery Store, and original works of art in the Sales and Rental Gallery, make appropriate gifts for members of your family and friends.

The gallery is open to the public Tuesday through Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday 12:30 to 5 p.m. It is closed Monday.

FIRST APPEARANCE — The much-talked-about San Francisco group, It's A Beautiful Day, will make their area debut here Dec. 13 at 8:30 p.m. in the San Diego Sports Arena.

It's A Beautiful Day, Iron Butterfly Slated

A concert here Dec. 13 will be homecoming for one group and an area debut for another.

The at-home group is the Iron Butterfly, a heavy rock quartet that has its roots in San Diego.

The debut group is the widely-popular It's A Beautiful Day, a deafening group featuring a montage of sounds.

The concert is scheduled at 8:30 p.m. in the San Diego Sports Arena.

Tickets are on sale now at all Highlander Stores, Metro Ticket Agencies, and the Sports Arena Box Office. Seats are $3, $4, $1.75, $5 and $5.50.

The Butterfly, now playing out of Los Angeles, have a large following in southern California and San Diego in particular.

The group formed in this area several years ago but had to migrate to L.A. to find sympathetic listeners and a possible recording contract.

They landed the contract and have since put out three hit albums, "Heavy," "In-a-gadda-da-vida" and "Ball."

The group includes Doug Ingle, organ; Ron Bushy, drummer; Lee Dorman, bass; and Erik Brann, guitar.

It's A Beautiful Day is a San Francisco-based group, that found fame in its own city, a center for rock bands.

The group, built around electric violinist David LaFlamme and, originally, his wife, used their unique sound to build up a huge following in the Bay Area and released their first album this summer for Columbia.

The album received a lot of attention from FM stations and a nationwide audience sprang up for the group.

The LP, however, does small justice to the six-man group which is a little short of electrifying in person. LaFlamme's violin, one of the most effective solo instruments in rock today, can pierce through and dominate the wall of sound the other five produce.

LaFlamme, also a leader in Family Dog enterprises, writes, arranges and sings much of the material. He has roots in classical violin, progressing to jazz and now to a combination of a large assortment of influence.

Patty Santos has replaced David's wife as the girl singer of the group, while the rest of the group remains intact.

It includes Mike Holman on bass, Hal Wagonett on guitar, Fred Webb on organ and Val Fuentes on drums.

Students Present Music, Dance

Chicano students will present "Teatro Frontera" (Border Theatre) when the Heartland Human Relations Assn. meets Wednesday.

The meeting and the program are scheduled at 7:30 p.m. at Nebo Hall, on Nebo Dr., in La Mesa.

"Teatro Frontera" is a group of Chicano students from elementary school to college level directed by Miss Olivia Reynolds, a San Diego State College student.

They present a program of music, drama and dance designed to bring an awareness of the Chicano culture and problems they face in today's society.

Clocks On Display

The Unicorn Theatre, in La Jolla, is showing an art exhibit of canvas clocks. Each work in the exhibit of 12 is a functioning time piece, as well as a work of art.

The artist, Steve Sozzani of La Mesa, says he was inspired by man's obsession with time. Sozzani, a student at Grossmont College, claims to have "a greater rapport with his work than with his instructors." His works currently on display at the Unicorn are acrylic on canvas and mixed media.

The display is located in the theatre lounge and is open from 10 a.m. until midnight daily through December 5.

Dairy product prices are only up 2½% so far in 1969, says U.S. Department of Agriculture, less than the average of all foods. Butter prices haven't gone up at all.

Rolando Kids Use Chutes

The children at Rolando Elementary School are happy to have Mrs. Margaret Sommers as their school secretary. Not only do they admire her, but also her son, Robert, who is a parachute rigger.

"Bob," who contributed several parachutes to the school has created a new form of playground activity. Students from kindergarten through the sixth grade are using them for fun, noisy excitement and movement exploration.

Staff members intend continuing their use for team work, rhythms, strength, endurance and, most of all, fun!

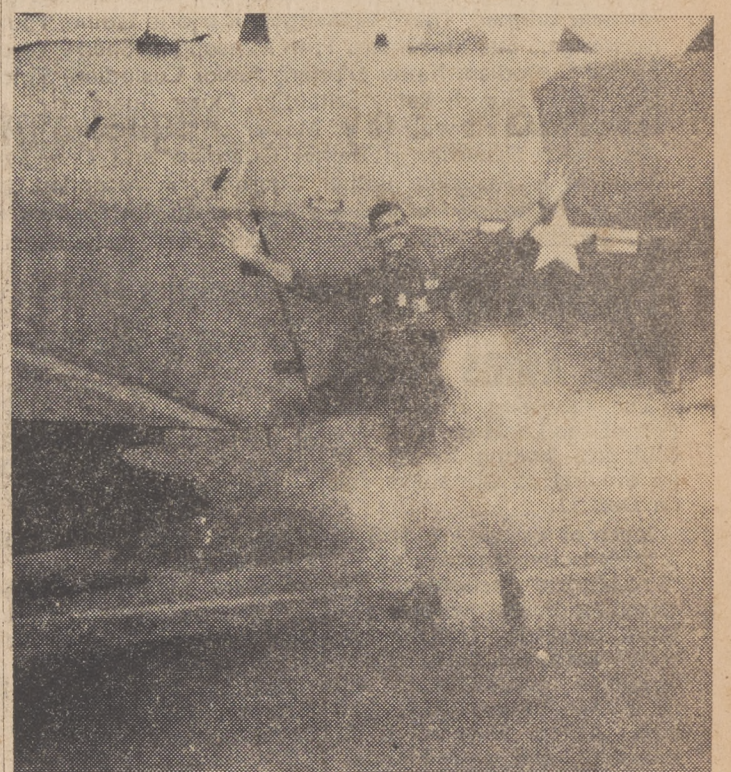

Area Students Have Program

Tall buckled hats, wide white collars, Indian head-dresses, and even papier mache turkeys dominated the many schools in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District last week as children reenacted the plight of the pilgrims.

The historical significance of the pilgrims has long had considerable impact on children as they read about and relive this great American holiday.

Various programs were researched, written, and produced for parents and other school mates throughout the week.

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

A humble Indian scooped a handful of corn seeds from the long-fibered apron-like cloth draped around the front of his neck and falling just below his waist line.

As the corn seed fell to the roughly tilled earth, a radiant figure appeared seemingly from out of the sky and frightened Don Diego with the supplication "Construye una basílica en mi nombre." (Build a shrine in my name.)

Shortly thereafter Don Diego visited the archbishop of Mexico to explain the appearance of the radiant figure in the sky and her request to build a shrine. Don Diego said her name was Guadalupe and she wished to represent the people of Mexico as "La Virgen Morena" (The Brown Virgin).

The archbishop could not accept Don Diego's story and suggested that he spend some time resting in the local "sanatorio" (sanitarium).

Rested and eager for work, Don Diego returned to the cornfield. Guadalupe delicately approached him from the heavens and asked if the archbishop wished to comply with her request. Don Diego fearfully replied that the archbishop did not believe he had seen the "Virgen Morena". She then filled his apron-like cloth with roses and asked Don Diego to return to the archbishop.

Presenting himself before the archbishop for the second time, Don Diego opened the apron of roses and a portrait of Guadalupe beamed forth from the long fibered cloth. Astonished by the portrait and the unusual beauty of the roses the archbishop listened to Don Diego's story which led to the building of "La Basílica de Guadalupe."

Kids, did you know Santa Claus reads this newspaper? Yep, it's a fact. Each holiday season, Santa scans the pages of this paper for letters addressed to him.

Why do the letters come here instead of the North Pole? Because, kids, the Post Office Dept., already overburdened with millions of pieces of mail each day, is virtually under too much strain at Christmas time, with cards flooding the mail and so on.

So, they've asked us to print the letters from local youngsters on our pages and Santa has obligingly agreed to watch our newspaper every week to see what the area youngsters want.

Don't forget to be good.

Dear Santa Claus:

I would like Hot Wheels Super Charger, A new bike, a trumpet, Spirograph, a new skateboard, play army men, crayons and coloring book.

LETTERS TO SANTA

To the North Pole from the Bishop family.

Dear Santa Claus:
We are all pretty good sometimes. Judi and Patti promise to do better at paying attention and Heidi promises to stop drinking the bottle. Buster will try to stay out of the cupboards and the babies will be good too.

Judi would like to have a Skipper doll.

Patti wants P.J. Heidi would like a Baby Cheerful Tearful.

Buster wants a gas station. Becci wants a dolly to go to bed with.

Scooter is too little to know, so just bring him something nice.

That's all Santa Claus. We know that you bring toys to all the boys and girls in the world. So you can't carry lots of toys for each of us, because there are so many of us.

Thank you very much. Judi, Patti, Heidi, Buster, Becci and Scooter Bishop.

Dear Santa:

Please bring me go-go boots and a snow-cone machine. My little brother would like an electric train and a Charlie Brown book. He is 4 and I am 7. This Christmas Eve I will be 8. Thank you.

Model Man Points Up Smoking Danger

"Ziggy" is to have a lung transplant, although his chances for success are excellent—he is a dummy!

The model was conceived and made by Highlands Elementary School's sixth-grade teacher, Harry Eng.

Ziggy is a new addition to the classroom and he smokes. At least he did until his twenty-fifth cigarette. He then became a prime candidate for a lung transplant because the tar and residue in his lungs had clogged up his system.

Smoke passing through his lungs, constructed of angel hair, gauze and crinoline, is only one of a number of steps that takes place before the eyes of Eng's 35 students.

Aside from the stains on the lungs, the smoke of one cigarette a day being drawn through the system via vacuum created by water, stains articles like buttons in another bottle, and passes odor into articles of clothing in what the students have termed "the stink box."

In a modern society where actions speak louder than words, it is hoped by Eng that the children will draw some valuable conclusions from watching Ziggy and his problems.

Ziggy is pretty happy about the whole deal because he can't die but, hopefully, he is doing his part in helping others live.

Helix Slates 'Barefoot'

Would you get cold feet running barefoot through the park?

Helix High School sophomore Paul Rathbun and senior Penny McKinley won't. They will play the leads in the senior play "Barefoot in the Park."

The play is a three act comedy by Neil Simon, author of such recent hits as "The Odd Couple" and "The Star Spangled Girl."

The setting is an old Brownstone apartment house in the East Forties off Third Ave., in an apartment on the fifth floor.

It all begins in a one room disaster area, with a hole in the skylight, no heat on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and a weather report stating snow. Here, Paul and Corrie, six day newly weds, try to start their marriage happily.

Corrie's lively, bubbly personality soon clashes with Paul's conservative, cautious one.

Mrs. Ethel Banks, Corrie's mother, is played by Chris Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hall, 3750 Rivera Dr., Lemon Grove.

Miguel Slates Season Dramas

One of the most unusual Christmas programs will be presented by the Mt. Miguel Drama Department, December 11 and 12.

The play is entitled "Christmas Comes To The Modern World." It is two short stories fused together to create a very different Christmas presentation.

The first play, "Casting Today," involves two directors, played by Joe McCormack and Ward McKay, who are auditioning different actors for the role of Christ, who is among the actors trying out. Steve Cimonds, David Mills, Marc Richard, Mike Leigh, and Renee Welsh are the other drama students in the play.

Santa Claus, the second play, describes the sense of values of today's society, when a dilapidated old Santa looks for understanding, and all he finds is knowledge in the world. Santa meets Death, portrayed by Ron Groomes, who tries to convert him into a scientific salesman. Santa, played by Mike Leigh, and Death change identity, and society kills one of them, because society feels they have been sold something that doesn't exist.

"Christmas Comes To The Modern World" is so entitled because the two one-act plays depict modern society, unable to discern between the truth and falsity of what Christmas really is.

In "Casting Today" we see society unable to recognize Christ, the very symbol of Christmas. In the play Santa Claus we see society blinded by its own emptiness to the true values of life," explained John Adams, drama advisor.

Board Adds Two

Appointment of a youth worker and a public relations counselor to the Child Protection Board of San Diego County was announced by its chairman, Joseph Zung.

Named were Joseph C. Jacobs, executive director of the Boys' Clubs of San Diego, and Worth Larkin, owner of a San Diego public relations agency, both of whom were assigned to the public information committee.

Zung explained that, in accordance with the county ordinance creating the board, the organization is concerned with the problem of child molestation throughout the county.

Woman's Club Aids Indians

The Lemon Grove Woman's Club has collected games, toys and candy plus cash donations to be sent to 20 kindergarten children at Low Mountain School on the Navajo Indian Reservation in the very remote area at Chinle, Arizona.

Mrs. Parker Emerson, club welfare chairman has made arrangements with Mrs. E. J. Thomas, Jr., president of Southern California Indian Assistance Corp. for delivery along with a truck-load of other materials to be delivered to the Navajos in the surrounding area.

The box from the Lemon Grove Woman's Club will be flown in by helicopter to the school in Chinle.

Scots Easily Outrun Championship Field

When it came to the showdown, Helix' cross-country team had all the guns.

The Highlanders, no better than co-favorite before last week's CIF AA cross-country championships with Monte Vista, surprised everybody but themselves by winning easily.

Left in the dust were excellent teams like the Monarchs and Point Loma. Helix scored a low total of 39 points.

Helix was led by junior Ed Mendoza, who paced the runners over the 2.1-mile, hilly course in 10:15.

Mendoza took off at the mile mark to lead Clairemont junior David Harper to the finish by seven seconds. Harper is the reigning CIF mile champ.

Monte Vista's Tom Lux ran about as expected to take a solid third place in 10:32 but the rest of the Monarch team suffered a letdown. The team dropped to third, with 78 points.

Mount Miguel's Gary Heiserman paced his team's surprise second-place showing by running fourth in 10:35. The Matadors had two less points than the Monarchs.

The real story of the race was Helix' overall strength. Dennis Rodgers (10:41) was sixth, Robin Schultz (10:46) was eighth, Curt Smith (10:48) was ninth, and Rich Stump was 15th. Thus, the Highlanders had not only the winner, but three other runners in the top ten. Only fifth-place Clairemont placed as many as two runners in the top ten.

As puzzling as the Monarchs' letdown was the almost total collapse of Point Loma, possibly the best team in the county in early-season.

The team finished last among the contenders, totaling 217 points. Their best runner, an excellent two-miler named Jon Freyer, could only finish tenth.

The Highlander team that won the crown is a senior team, except for the star — Mendoza.

Next season should see a battle for top honors again, with Mendoza, runner-up Harper, Lux of Monte Vista and Point Loma hope Freyer all returning.

Returning with Lux will be most of the Monarch team, hoping to make up for this year's disappointment.

Nat'l Honors Due Aztecs

After three straight years of being ranked as the number one College Division team, one gets kind of used to seeing your name in the national wire service polls. However, when the Aztecs were promoted to the University category, things changed, but now everything is starting to look like it used to.

The reason? The Aztecs are back in the ratings, this time as a University Division club. In the latest poll released by United Press International, the Aztecs were tied for 18th along with Arizona State and Purdue. Not bad company for a first-year team.

The Aztecs also received some more national recognition from UPI as both quarterback Dennis Shaw and wide receiver Tom Reynolds, both holders of one or more NCAA records, were given Honorable Mention laurels in the All-America balloting. Both were also named 2nd team All-West Coast by Associated Press.

Shaw has shattered a fistful of national marks in the Aztecs initial season as a major college and still has a few more up his sleeve while Reynolds set a new season touchdown reception mark of 18 before being sidelined after eight games with a knee injury.

Padres Cut Season Ticket For 1970 Season by $40

SAN DIEGO — Season tickets to San Diego Padre home games will cost less next year, it was announced by E. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi, Padre president.

The best box seats in San Diego Stadium will be available at $225 for the entire 1970 schedule, 81 Padre games to be played on 75 dates.

This represents a $40 reduction from last year's price and a 15 percent saving off the face value of the tickets if purchased on a daily basis.

Loge box season seats similarly will be reduced, to $175 per seat from last year's $190.

"It is extremely important to the Padres to encourage a greater number of persons to support our young and improving team," Bavasi said. "We believe the radical reduction in the price of Padre season plans will attract more fans to purchase tickets for all home games."

Renewal blanks are being mailed this week to Padre charter season ticket holders, Bavasi said.

Persons interested in becoming new Padre season ticket holders may receive full ticket information and may arrange for a personal inspection of available season locations by contacting Joe Ziegler at the Padre offices at San Diego Stadium, 283-4494.

Chargers Face Patriots Sunday

To San Diego, home of the Chargers and the U. S. Navy Pacific Fleet, come the plucky Patriots from Boston, cradle of liberty on the Atlantic. It's a perfect match for Pearl Harbor Day.

San Diego Stadium is the battlefield Sunday at 1 p.m. Both teams have muskets primed. The Chargers (6-6) are on a two-game win streak; the Patriots (4-8) have won three in a row and four of their last five. The first meeting between the teams was a near standoff, San Diego winning, 13-10.

Under new coach Charlie Waller, the Chargers will attack Sunday with their impressive rookie quarterback Marty Domres, league-leading runner Dickie Post and record-setting receiver Lance Alworth.

Domres, No. 1 draft choice from Columbia, returns to the firing line after receiving a lesson from "old pro" John Hadl. The rookie watched Hadl rally the Chargers to a 21-17 victory over the Houston Oilers at the Astrodome Thanksgiving Day.

Post, 5-9, 190-pound Mighty Mouse, will have a head-to-head duel Sunday with his closest competitor for the AFL rushing title, Boston's bruising fullback, 6-1, 235-pound Jim Nance.

With two games remaining, Post has gained 696 yards to 681 for Nance. Matt Shell of New York is third with 657. Alworth has a date with pro football history Sunday. One catch for Lance would extend his consecutive game receiving streak to 95 and tie the all-time record set by immortal Don Hutson of Green Bay from 1937-1945.

Alworth also is gunning for his second consecutive AFL receiving crown. He caught seven for 85 yards against Houston to raise his season's total to 51 catches. Al Denison of Denver leads the league with 53. Fred Biletnikoff of Oakland is third at 49.

Gulls-Bucks Faceoff Set

The San Diego Gulls face a big weekend of Western Hockey League play with the Portland Buckaroos and Seattle Totems coming into town.

The Bucks will be at the Sports Arena to face the Gulls tomorrow night at 8 p.m., and the Totems and Gulls will meet at the Arena Sunday in a 7 p.m. game.

The Gulls and Portland have played three times this season, and the Gulls have two wins and a tie. The tie and one of the victories were recorded on Portland ice.

The Gulls hold a 2-1 margin over Seattle. The Totems' win was in the last game between the two clubs, and Seattle has shown lots of improvement lately.

The two weekend games give the Gulls a good chance to move closer to the top of the WHL ladder. They need to move up a bit, too, because there is a rugged six-game road trip following the weekend games.

The Gulls head over to Phoenix for a pair of games, then play in Seattle, Vancouver and Portland before a return engagement in Phoenix, then home.

In last week's action, the Gulls dropped three straight on the road, then returned home Saturday for a thrilling 1-0 win over the Phoenix Roadrunners. Discouraged after a tough road trip and tired from travel delays that kept them from arriving in San Diego until 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the Gulls rallied behind goaltender Jack McCartan and played a strong game to blank the Roadrunners.

It was McCartan's first shut-out of the season, and his first as a San Diego Gull. He was helped by strong defensive work from Gerry Odrowski, Dennis Huclak, Jack Evans and Al LeBrun.

Wilson 12th In State

Brent Wilson, one of the finest runners ever to attend Grossmont, ended his junior college career Saturday with a 12th place finish in the California Junior College Cross Country Championships at Fresno.

Brent, who was named to all conference teams both years at Grossmont, and this season also named "Runner of the Year" in the Mission Conference, finished with a time of 20:17, eleven places behind Bakersfield's Rich Hitchcock, who also won the event in 1968.

Once again, Southern California dominated the race, with only one runner from Northern California finishing ahead of Wilson, with the first thirteen harriers breaking the course record.

SKATER — Jan Shinski, a student at Lemon Grove Junior High School, is one of 170 skaters to try for titles in the six day 1970 Southwest Pacific Figure Skating Championships starting December 12 at Culver City. She lives at 2827 Skyline drive. Jan will compete for the Intermediate Ladies event representing the San Diego Figure Skating Club. Events start at 7 a.m. and are open to the public.

'Championship Trail' Ends Sunday at Riverside Track

RIVERSIDE — The "Championship Trail." The end is at Riverside International Raceway Sunday, but what is it?

To most sports-minded people, no matter how remote their interests might be in auto racing, the term is synonymous with the Indianapolis 500, the biggest and most publicized single sports event in the world.

Nearly $1 million is paid out in purse and accessory money at Indy and the checks are made out to such names as Mario Andretti, A. J. Foyt, Dan Gurney, Lloyd Ruby, Bobby Unser, Roger McCluskey and others that people identify with major league racing.

But as big and as important as and as rich as the Indy 500 is, it is just one of 23 stops along the "Championship Trail," the U. S. Auto Club's annual schedule of championship car races.

The Trail this year began in March in Phoenix, Ariz., and traveled on to Indianapolis via Hanford Motor Speedway near Fresno. It wound its way

Matadors Drop SDS Bowl Opener to Hive

Mt. Miguel had the misfortune of scheduling Lincoln High in their basketball opener and the result was a 58-51 loss by the Matadors to the highly-ranked Hornets.

Lincoln, ranked as high as number two in the county before play began, used a 19-point burst in the third period to break open the game and win their second straight contest without a loss.

The score was tied at 25-all at halftime before the Hornets shot ahead by 11 at the third period buzzer.

Clarence Brown, an emerging 6-7 star, notched 14 points, but teammate Billy Reed (6-6) tossed in 18 to lead the Hornets.

Junior Tom Young led Miguel scoring with 16, while junior John Slater hooped 11 points.

It was a respectable beginning for the young Matadors, a team that was a doormat in Summer League play and returned virtually no experienced players.

Aztecs Finish 10-0 Season With Gasp

Cardiac finishes such as San Diego State's Aztecs put on last Saturday are fine, but if you happen to be a player or, better yet, a coach — forget it.

Coach Don Coryell's Aztecs let the invading 49ers of Cal State Long Beach push them around for the opening half before they woke up to snatch a 36-32 win.

The triumph completed a perfect 10-0 regular season slate for the Pasadena Bowl-bound Montezumas including a 60 Pacific Coast Athletic Association mark.

Saturday's victory was the last outing, needless to say, before this week's encounter on December 6 against Boston University in the Pasadena Bowl.

The Terriers raced to a 9-1 record and were recently voted as the top team in New England. This is, by no means, a rag-tag honor as it means BU was considered better than tough independents Syracuse and Colgate, Dartmouth's Ivy League co-champs and arch-rival (although they didn't meet this season) Boston College. In whipping Cal State Long Beach, the Aztecs recorded their third unbeaten mark to 21 and its record to 45-1-1 since mid-1965.

For nearly the entire game it looked like the fired-up 49ers of Coach Jim Strangeland were going to ruin the Aztecs' undefeated mark. But, fate or lady luck, whichever you prefer, was wearing SDS colors and when Del Pifer barreled into the end zone with 3:30 to go, that was it.

State allowed CSLB to build up a 32-21 halftime edge, but then came out to shut down the 49ers the entire second half. In all, CSLB gained only 20 yards the final two quarters and ran off just 27 plays. The 49ers were also limited to just three first downs.

Dennis Shaw, State's All-America Honorable Mention quarterback, wrapped up the NCAA total offense crown with 273 yards. Shaw finished the season with 3197 yards, the third highest total ever. Shaw's 19 completions also enabled him to finish third in forward passing.

Area Schools Host Invaders in Tourney

It could very well turn into an instance of "Us vs. Them" next week when the 1969-70 basketball season opens its fling.

The Aztecs will be opening the season as host team in the eight-school Aztec Invitational Basketball Tournament running from Dec. 3-6. Joining the San Diego State team on the "Us" side will be fellow San Diego schools, the University of California at San Diego, University of San Diego and the United States International University.

The four-day tourney, sponsored by the Aztec Club, will also feature four out-of-town units in the University of California at Davis, Tahoe College, Cal Poly (Pomona) and Pomona College.

Open round action in the tournament will pit each San Diego school against one of the invaders. UCSD has drawn the opening assignment against Cal Poly (Pomona) at 7 p.m. The Aztecs will complete the evening's activity by challenging Pomona College at 9 p.m.

Golden Bowl Standings

With the Gold Fingers league bowling at Golden Bowl lanes, in its 31st week of 32 weeks, L.G. Super Shell is still out in front with 77½ wins, followed by Himmer's Insurance, with 70½ wins, and Paper Tigers in 3rd, with 68½ wins.

In the Valley Trio league, California Fire Equipment team leads with 26½ wins; and ½ game behind in 2nd, Mission Van and Storage No. 1, with 26 wins; and in 3rd place Admire Plumbing, with 25 wins.

Golden 850 Mixed: Spring Valley Inn and Starlight Plumbing, tied for first, with 5 wins; A-1 Vending, 2nd, with 4 wins; Gaetano's Italian Food and Micky's Saimin, tied for 3rd, with 2 wins.

Gold Brickers: The Re-Sets and The Fireballs, tied for first, with 30 wins; The In-Laws, 2nd, with 28 wins; The Best Four, 3rd, with 26½ wins.

Nuggeteers: Palermo's Pizzeria, first, with 27½ wins; Potter Rappold, 2nd, with 27 wins; Rink A Dinks, 3rd, with 26 wins.

Interservice Plus: Sandbaggers, first, with 29 wins; Fiddle, Four, 2nd, with 28 wins; Sevensers, 3rd, with 26 wins.

Pyrites: South Bay Trade School, first, with 33 wins; Jimmie's Meat Center, 2nd, with 28 wins; Bob's Chevron and The Panners, tied for 3rd, with 23 wins each.

Aztecs Get High In Nat'l Numbers

With just one more game left to play, it looks like the Aztecs' Dennis Shaw is going to wait away with the national total offense crown. Shaw has rolled up 2924 yards (2907 passing and 17 rushing) to pace the nation for the second straight week.

Shaw has a 140 yard bulge over number two man Jim Plunkett of Stanford, but Plunkett has already completed his season. The only man who can catch Shaw is number three man John Reaves of Florida. Reaves, however, is more than 400 yards behind Shaw (2519) and would need a truly fantastic final game to overtake him.

Shaw is also running seventh in passing with 180 completions and with a game in hand on everyone ahead of him could conceivably move as high as second or third.

Elsewhere in the state, Tim Delaney is third in receiving with 72 receptions behind Jerry Hendren of Idaho (who's finished the year with 95 catches) and Florida's Carlos Alvarez (73).

Al Limahelu, who set a new NCAA record last week against North Texas State by running his string of PAT's to 46 in a row, is 10th in kicking with 58 points.

In the team categories, the Aztecs are ranked in three sections and are number one in each. San Diego State is tops in total offense, averaging 541.9 yards a game compared to runner-up Houston's 510.6. State is also tops in passing offense with 384.9 yards a game with Stanford a distant second at 298.5. And, finally, SDS is number one in scoring with an average of 47.6 points a game with Texas second at 43.8.

The Board of Directors
Grossmont Hospital District

We have examined the balance sheet of the Grossmont Hospital District as of June 30, 1969. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

ATT Claims Dividend

Directors of American Telephone and Telegraph Company have declared a quarterly dividend of 65 cents a share, up five cents from the previous quarter.

This increases the annual dividend rate from $2.40 to $2.60. The dividend declared this week is payable Jan. 2, 1970 to shareholders of record Nov. 26, 1969.

In commenting on the action, H. I. Romnes, chairman of the board, stated —

"This dividend increase derives largely from earnings re-invested in the business and is in line with our policy to pay an equitable dividend and to increase it as conditions warrant.

"We are confident this record of progress can be sustained, supported as it is by the innovative resources of our business and by the continued high level of demand for communication services."

This history of dividend improvements for AT&T shareholders adjusted for two stock splits is — from 1.50 to $1.65 in 1959, increased to $1.80 in 1961, up to $2 in 1964, increased to $2.20 in 1966, up to $2.40 in 1968, and $2.60 beginning with the Jan., 1970 payment.

New Book Adds To San Diego Lore

SAN DIEGO — More than 250 historical and present-day photographs of San Diego are among the features of a book published here this month by San Diego Magazine Books.

"San Diego: Portrait of a Spectacular City" has been described as the first book of its kind to be published in the city.

Author of the text is native San Diegan Syd Love, a freelance writer and contributing editor of San Diego Magazine. Ed Self, the magazine's editor and publisher, said the book is the first single-volume work on such a scale in which the city's past and present in all fields are recounted.

"Our is a profile," Self said. "We touch many facets of the city that have not been covered before by any book. We do a little looking into the future, and we give extensive space to some wonderful photography of this century and of the last."

"Many famous art treasures from the Fine Arts Gallery have been reproduced in full color, and we have included photos and facts on many local subjects never treated in book form before."

The 232-page volume includes a 65,000-word text and more than 250 photographs—forty in full color.

The fifteen chapters cover Old San Diego, the giants who built the city, and the past and present in art, architecture, performing arts, Balboa Park, sports, aviation, industry, Baja California, the military, Mission Bay and higher education.

Author Love, a resident of Pacific Beach, attended high schools at Sweetwater and Chula Vista. He is a 1954 graduate of San Diego State College, where he was editor of the Daily Aztec. As a newsman, he has worked for the Chula Vista Star News, the La Mesa Scout, the Honolulu Star Bulletin, the Los Angeles Mirror-News, the San Diego Union and United Press International.

"San Diego: Portrait of a Spectacular City" is a nine by twelve-inch, hard-cover, linen bound volume. Publication price is $16.50.

Teen Drug Abuse Answers Sought

The second in a series of meetings on teen drug abuse problems has been set for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Skyline Wesleyan church.

One answer to the problem has been the Skyline Life House, a get together held after high school football games each week, according to the church's pastor Orville C. Butcher.

"Teen parents are tired of discussing the problem—they want some practical answers," Mr. Butcher said. "The Tuesday meeting should produce some of those answers, he added.

The church is at 1345 Skyline dr., Lemon Grove. Parents of teenagers are invited.

Griffs Swamped In Playoff Round

The Fullerton Hornets, a poised and confident football team, showed why they have only lost two games in five years Saturday night, as the 1967 state champions trounced Grossmont College 49-19 in the first round of the 1969 junior college football playoffs.

Grossmont jumped out to a 7-0 first quarter lead as Greg Gleason hit Skip Stephenson with a 13-yard scoring pass after the alert Griffin defense picked up a Marv Owens' fumble in Hornet territory.

Steve Wilcox kicked the extra point, and the Griffins led for the only time in the ball game, 7-0.

Fullerton got the ball in Griffin territory following an interception, and Dennis Haughn tied the score with a 3-yard run early in the second period. Marv Owens put the Hornets in the lead a few minutes later, with a 27-yard romp on a quarterback roll out.

After the kickoff, Greg Gleason marched Grossmont 74 yards for a touchdown that Gary Honkanen got credit for, with a run of three yards.

The kick failed, making it 14-13 Fullerton, and the Hornets made it 21-13 a few minutes later, as Marv Owens hit John Conley with a 7-yard strike for a touchdown.

Don Kojis' Contract Resuscitated By Rockets

LBJ may have fathered the unbelievable gap but the San Diego Rockets are perfecting it.

The Rockets, San Diego's entry in the National Basketball Association, called a hurried news conference Monday to announce — of all things — that the Rockets new contract with its Captain Don Kojis, did not, in fact, exist.

There had been all kinds of basketball glee as the season opened when Rocket management announced that Kojis, an avowed holdout, had signed a new contract.

Kojis now is not satisfied with his $35,000 a year salary, it was revealed. Neither does he want to be traded as it was reported. He is in the middle year of his original three year contract.

Rocket owner Bob Brietbard, manager Pete Newell, and coach Jack McMahon apparently called the press meeting as a catharsis. Yet, it didn't purge them of their woes. Neither did it help Kojis who has also been reported as keeping a diary on teammate Elvin Hayes, whom many consider Kojis' antagonist. Hayes is said to have broken into Kojis hotel room on a recent trip and destroyed the diary.

Tuesday, at the meeting of Sportscaster-Sportswriters Assn., a newsman asked McMahon if Hayes had taken Don's diary.

McMahon blandly asked, "What diary?"

CIGARETTES ARE BUMMERS — So goes a popular bumper sticker, and Highlands Elementary students are out to prove it, with the use of a smoking, plywood man. Here Scott Kiber, Robert Bearden, Don Clark and teacher Harry Eng sees that "Ziggy" takes up on a tobacco number.

FOR CHARITY — The Cody family of 2042 Madera in Lemon Grove believes in goodfellowship at Christmastime. Here, Daniel, 14, Diana, 13, and David, 16, display some of the 45 to 50 stuffed animals they are making to give to pre-school youngsters at the Home of Guiding Hands on Christmas Eve. The idea was a brainstorm of Daniel's. David provides the expense money with earnings from a job at Foodbasket, while Daniel stuffs the animals and Diana does the sewing. Diana attends Paim Jr. High, while the brothers attend Mt. Miguel High.

Dr. Robuck Address Scheduled

Dr. John D. Robuck will address the San Diego Open Forum, Sunday evening, on "Psychiatry: The Polygamous Profession."

The program is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the First Unitarian Church, 4190 Front st.

A question-and-answer period will follow Dr. Robuck's address.

Founded in 1919, the Open Forum is San Diego's oldest public platform for the free discussion of ideas. The expenses of presenting speakers are still met, as they were 50 years ago, by season-membership subscriptions.

Traditionally, the public is invited to attend all programs. This year, non-members, with the exception of undergraduate students, will be asked for $1 contributions at the door. A social hour will follow the program.
